

Program Map: High School 21+

High School 21+ (HS21+) allows students to earn high school credit by completing coursework in our Transitional Studies division. Graduates earn an actual diploma rather than a GED (General Educational Development) or another certificate. HS21+ also gives students credit for things they already know. Students who provide documentation of career training, college-level coursework or other competencies can have that experience evaluated for credit toward their diploma. Completion of HS21+ classes also prepares students to transition to college studies.
