Pathway: Literature & Society

About the Literature & Society Pathway

This pathway is designed to meet Associate in Arts degree requirements with an emphasis in Literature & Society. This pathway is designed to allow students to pursue careers in education, law, the global and national non-profit sector, writing and editing, human resources, and advertising. Students pursuing this degree combine the study of literature with courses that explore how human history, language, and the changing environment shape cultures and art.

The Literature & Society pathway is a broad and integrated field where reading and writing intersect, and issues in critical thinking come into play. This degree pathway will introduce you to literature from specific historical periods, international literature, specific genres, and literature focusing on current and relevant social themes. During the course of your studies, you'll gain research and analytical capabilities, creative thinking skills, and the ability to persuasively communicate both verbally and in writing.

In this pathway, you'll read great works of literature, research interesting topics, write fiction, and learn to communicate clearly and effectively. Whether you want a future in writing, publishing, teaching or other profession—such as digital media, law, journalism and marketing—studying Literature & Society is a portal to a broad range of challenging career opportunities.

Length of Program

90 credits = 6 quarters if you take 15 credits* each term.

Students who take 15 credits each quarter earn their degree faster, qualify for more financial aid, and earn more money over their lifetime because they complete their schooling faster.*

Which Quarter Can I Begin?

Fall, Winter, Spring, or Summer.

Class Times/Delivery Format?

Classes and labs are offered M-TH (2 days or 4 days a week) from 8am-4pm and in the evenings. We offer on-campus, online, or hybrid (part on-campus, part online) formats.
